Authors Speak Series - Steve Sheinkin
Mesa Public Library
2400 Central Avenue
Los Alamos, NM 87544
07:00 PM - 08:30 PM MST
Carol Meine, (505) 662-8253
libweb@lacnm.us
Steve Sheinkin is the former history textbook writer and current award-winning author of several fascinating books on American history, most recently Bomb: The Race to Build – and Steal – the World's Most Dangerous Weapon.
Bomb is a multiple award winner: it was selected as a Newbery Honor Book in 2013. Sheinkin's true story of the atomic bomb's inception was also awarded both the ALA's Robert F. Sibert Medal for "most distinguished informational book published in English during the preceding year" and the Young Adult Library Service Association's Award for Excellence in Nonfiction. It was also a 2012 National Book Award Finalist, Young People's Literature.
His title The Notorious Benedict Arnold won both the 2012 YALSA Award for Excellence in Nonfiction for Young Adults and the Boston Globe/Horn Book Award for non-fiction. Steve lives in Saratoga Springs, NY.

About BOMB: In December of 1938, a chemist in a German laboratory made a shocking discovery: When placed next to radioactive material, a Uranium atom split in two. That simple discovery launched a scientific race that spanned 3 continents. In Great Britain and the United States, Soviet spies worked their way into the scientific community; in Norway, a commando force slipped behind enemy lines to attack German heavy-water manufacturing; and deep in the desert, one brilliant group of scientists was hidden away at a remote site at Los Alamos. This is the story of the plotting, the risk-taking, the deceit, and genius that created the world's most formidable weapon. This is the story of the atomic bomb.

PEEC Class - Get Grounded
Location TBD (check website for details)
09:00 AM - 12:00 PM MST
Katie Watson, 662-0460
Programs@pajaritoEEC.org
Spend a morning connecting with Nature and the spectacular Los Alamos outdoors. While traveling scenic trails, as well as getting off the beaten path, participants will have the chance to get their feet dirty while we explore concepts of natural movement, grounding, awareness, mindfulness, and balance. In this age of fast-paced, high-tech lifestyles, this class will allow individuals the opportunity to slow down, observe, breathe, and enjoy the outdoors in a more deeply experiential manner. Participants should wear comfortable clothes they don't mind getting dirty or wet, and should bring water, a hand towel, and a snack if necessary.

This program will be led by scientist, environmental consultant, and expert herbalist Kristi Beguin. Kristi has practiced and honed her skills through outdoor activities, martial arts, writing, and making medicines. Her medical applications incorporate Western herbal medicine, traditional Chinese medicine, and flower essence therapy.

The class will be conducted on a local Los Alamos trail (location TBD). Participants will meet at the trailhead.

Please Register in advance. $25/$20 for PEEC members

Authors Speak Series: John Nichols
Mesa Public Library
2132 Central Avenue
Los Alamos, NM 87544
07:00 PM - 09:00 PM MST
Best known for his "New Mexico Trilogy," John Nichols is a novelist, photographer, screenwriter, and environmental nonfiction writer. He was the winner of a 1981 New Mexico Governor's Award and in 2003, both the Frank Waters Award and Wallace Stegner Award. Nichols's works are noted for their social and environmental concerns, particulatly the cultural conflict between Anglos and Chicanos in New Mexico, social violence, the destruction of natural resorces, and economic imbalance. His books are marked by colorful characters and familiar locales, and they not only deal with largersocial issues but also focus on the more intimate issues of family and love. Gale Contemporary authors Online, 2008

Nichols is the author of twenty books, including his latest novel, On Top of Spoon Mountain (UNM Press 2012). This is from his website:

I worked on this novel for 12 years, so obviously it's a masterpiece. Don't take my word, read the book. Jonathan Kepler wants to climb a 13,000 foot high New Mexico Mountain with his adult children, Ben and miranda, on his 65th birthday. But he's overweight, with heart problems, his life is a mess, his kids know he is crazy. No matter. Pigheaded Jonathan thinks climbing spoon Mountain will bring him redemption with his offspring come hell or high water. This book is a comedy, a Family tragedy, it has a beautiful message. You'll laugh, you'll cry, you won't be disappointed, I promise. Not since The Milagro Beanfield War have I been so on my game. But if I'm wrong you can't get your money back, are you kidding? This is America. The bubble has burst. (Yet my literature soldiers on!)

Location TBD (check website for details)
09:00 AM - 12:00 PM MST
Katie Watson, 662-0460
Programs@pajaritoEEC.org
Spend a morning learning to identify, collect, and preserve local medicinal herbs. Habitats, collection procedures, ecologic concerns, and preservation methods will all be discussed. Participants may travel to one or more different local areas. If interested, Michael Moore's Medicinal Plants of the Mountain West, is a useful reference.

This class will enable participants to learn about and observe local medicinal plants. Participants will learn about a variety of plant habitats, as well as collection procedures, how to be sensitive to ecologic concerns, and preservation methods for medicinal plants.
Kristi Beguin is a scientist, an environmental consultant, and expert herbalist. She has practiced and honed her skills through outdoor activities, martial arts, writing, and making medicines. Her medical applications incorporate Western herbal medicine, traditional Chinese medicine, and flower essence therapy.

Participants will meet at a local trailhead. Please register in advance. $25/$20 for PEEC members
