The warning signs of Alzheimer's disease are often dismissed as side effects of normal aging. If you or someone you know is experiencing memory loss or behavioral changes, it's time to learn the facts. In this one hour workshop, individuals will gain a greater understanding of the difference between age-related memory loss and dementia and what to do if they have signs of Alzheimer's disease. This workshop is recommended for anyone interested in learning about the signs of Alzheimer's disease.
