Glimmerglass Film Days
See website for details
Ellen Pope - Otsego 2000, (607) 547-8881
director@otsego2000.org

When Peggy Parsons shared her dream in 2012 of establishing a film festival in Cooperstown under the auspices of Otsego 2000, the decision was an easy one. As a showcase for films exploring humanity's complex relationship with the natural world, we anticipate that Glimmerglass Film Days will become a draw to the region through its inspiring films combined with local foods, walks, hikes and bike rides exploring the tranquility of an Otsego autumn.

For the more details on films, events and tickets: www.glimmerglassfilmdays.org
One of the first uniquely American novelists, James Fenimore Cooper, pioneered a 200-year-old environmental ethic on the shores of Lake Otsego that inspires us to the present day. Destined to become an annual showcase for powerful films reflecting our complex relationships with the natural world, Glimmerglass Film Days encourages environmental stewardship through encounters and lively collaboration with world-class artists, activists and scholars. Partnering with local organizations to bring cultural events--screenings, hikes, talks, bike rides, and exhibits--of world class quality to our region.
