Info@maricopachamber.org

Workplace safety isn't just a checklist — it's a cornerstone of a successful business.

Our expert facilitators bring decades of experience and real-world perspective:

Bill Robertson, retired Fire Chief, will lead a powerful discussion and demonstration on CPR and emergency readiness that every workplace should have.

Chris Cahall, American Family Insurance specialist in workers' compensation insurance and claims, will break down what employers need to know before — and after — an incident occurs.

Kelly Anderson, with over 20 years in workplace safety and health across multiple industries, will share practical strategies to build a proactive safety culture that protects both employees and bottom lines.

Whether you manage a small team or a growing company, this session will give you the tools and confidence to make safety a built-in part of doing business — not an afterthought.

Workshop From Bored to Board

TBD

TBD

Greater Maricopa Business Alliance, 520-705-2532

Info@maricopachamber.org

Ready to elevate your nonprofit board — and your role within it? Join us for an empowering session led by author and board-governance specialist Erik Hanberg. This is your chance to move from “just another meeting” to meaningful impact as a board member.

In this interactive workshop, you'll learn how to:

Understand the critical responsibilities and influence of a nonprofit board — why good governance matters for mission, reputation, and sustainability

Build and contribute to a strong board team: recruitment, roles, accountability, culture, and strategic oversight

Clarify the difference between being on a board and being in the boardroom: how individuals can show up prepared, proactive, and attuned to the mission

Explore real-world pitfalls, success stories, and actionable checklists to help your board transition from “bored” to genuinely engaged leadership

As part of this event you'll receive a copy of each of Erik Hanberg's three books on nonprofit leadership and governance — powerful tools to continue your board-transformation journey.

About the Facilitator

*Erik Hanberg has spent more than 15 years working in the nonprofit sector in roles spanning fundraising, marketing, board service and staff leadership. He is the author of books tailored for nonprofit boards, including The Little Book of Boards: A Board Member's Handbook for Small and Very Small Non-profits. In addition to his writing and consulting work, he has served on elected public boards — including as a commissioner for Metro Parks Tacoma — giving him practical, boots-on-the-ground insight into board leadership.*

Who should attend?

Current or incoming board members who want to deepen their understanding and effectiveness

Non-profit staff or executive directors seeking strategies to strengthen their board

Individuals curious about serving on a nonprofit board and wanting to step in prepared

People are the true power behind economic growth — and the next generation of talent is already here. The fourth event in the 2026 GMBA Economic Forum Series focuses on Workforce & Innovation, exploring how education, business, and community partnerships can strengthen the local talent pipeline and create new opportunities for both youth and adults in Western Pinal County.

This forum brings together leaders in education, workforce development, and business innovation to discuss strategies for preparing the next generation for meaningful careers, while also addressing the needs of underemployed residents seeking new pathways in a changing economy.

Confirmed Participants Include:

Arizona Board of Regents – insights on higher education initiatives and statewide talent strategies

Maricopa Unified School District – preparing students for life after graduation through career readiness and industry connections

Central Arizona College (CAC) – expanding technical training and workforce education across Pinal County

ARIZONA @WORK – connecting employers with skilled talent and workforce support programs

Pinal County Workforce Development – local collaboration and regional employment trends

GMBA Foundation – advancing youth mentorship, work-based learning, and employer engagement initiatives

Together, these organizations are driving innovation in how communities prepare people for work, upskill the underemployed, and align education with employer needs.

Key Takeaways:

Learn about local and state programs supporting workforce development and job readiness

Discover how businesses can partner with schools and workforce agencies

Explore resources available for underemployed or career-changing adults

Understand how workforce innovation fuels community prosperity and economic resilience
