

Boulder City is a beautiful oasis in the desert with green parks and tree-shaded streets overlooking Lake Mead. Our quaint, historic City is known as the "City That Built Hoover Dam" and housed over 4,000 workers during the Dam's construction from 1931 to 1935. The town is still home to many of the original Dam workers, fondly known as the "31ers" and their families.

Boulder City is a wholesome family-oriented community with a range of recreational opportunities. If you're in the mood to lounge by the pool of one of our hotels, jump from a plane with our sky diving company, fly through the air on the aerial trails system, ATV across the painted desert, competition skeet shoot at the range, leisurely cruise Lake Mead on a paddle wheeler, enjoy lunch at a sidewalk cafe, spot wildlife on the banks of the Colorado River via a kayak or raft, or simply stroll the charming streets of the Historic District, you won't be disappointed in Boulder City.

Moapa Valley means outdoor adventure! Whether that means traveling back in time to an ancient civilization, climbing craggy sandstone cliffs, exploring the ruins of a pioneer city, finding a quiet place to view wildlife and birds, riding a horse across grand desert vistas or sailing the sand in an exciting four-wheel machine down a scenic ATV trail, Moapa Valley has it all!

In Moapa Valley, you can visit the famous Lost City Museum and see what life was like in the ancient Ancestral Puebloan civilization which once existed here. Take a short hike to the ruins of old St. Thomas, a pioneer city flooded in the 1930s by the waters of Lake Mead. Ride ATVs among colorful sandstone cliffs of Logandale Trails. Then at the end of your day's adventure, you can relax and enjoy a meal from a variety of hometown restaurants; away from the hustle of the city lights, in a place where the stars still shine brightly.
