2020 Membership Meeting & Luncheon
Learn what your chamber of commerce has planned for 2020 at the 10th Annual Membership Meeting & Luncheon, scheduled for 11:30am-1pm Friday, January 31 in the Leclaire Room on the N.O. Nelson campus of Lewis and Clark Community College. In 2013, Edwardsville/Glen Carbon Chamber of Commerce leadership had the great pleasure of working with retired business executive Robert McClellan to craft a new strategic plan, which included adopting new mission and vision statements, guiding principles, and core values.

2020 will be dedicated to further implementing strategic change and continued progress for the Ed/Glen Chamber. With U.S. Chamber of Commerce 5-Star Accreditation achieved, the Ed/Glen Chamber has much to celebrate, and will continue enhancing the organization’s focus on advocating for pro-business legislation at all levels of government.

We hope you will attend the lunch to help us kick off 2020 with the unveiling of our new strategic plan and annual plan of work. This business casual luncheon is an opportunity for members to become familiar with the Ed/Glen Chamber’s 2020 menu of services, and celebrate the chamber’s 2019 accomplishments.

COMPANY HISTORY: Donco was founded in 1979 by Don DeArmon as an electrical construction company. Current Owner/Chairwoman & CEO Candy Fowler took over in 1999. What started as electrical construction has expanded substantially, with specializations in metering services, gas construction, utility design, and information technology services. Donco is a Women’s Business Enterprise National Council (WBENC) certified company. The entire team takes pride in the open, diverse culture and environment. See the ‘FUTURE FOCUS’ section for news of Donco’s re-branding.

ECONOMIC IMPACT: By expanding services on an as-needed basis, Donco creates jobs that contribute to the economic betterment of the Edwardsville/Glen Carbon area. Through metering, utility and gas construction services, Donco’s engineers help build the infrastructure that strengthens the community’s economy, inside and out. Donco is a major employer and job-creator, with more than 300 people on payroll.

COMMUNITY ENHANCEMENT: Each year employees support the Caritas Calendar Challenge and the Toys for Tots Toy Drive, collecting a substantial number of items for those in need. Additionally, Donco sponsors many local community events and charitable organizations, including Edwardsville Township Touch-A-Truck, Edwardsville Neighbors Taste of Edwardsville, Big Brothers Big Sisters of America, Prima Pow Wow, Edwardsville Opera, and Court Appointed Special Advocates (CASA) of Southwestern Illinois.

WORKFORCE COMMITMENT: In addition to approachable leadership, Donco offers employees exceptional benefits including 401k match, tuition reimbursement, and our company-paid health insurance deductible. With its Leadership Education & Development (LEAD) program, Donco coordinates and hosts learning courses that focus on career-building competencies and skills, promoting both professional and personal growth. In addition, the firm’s Business Rotation Program provides employees with diverse skillsets the opportunity to thrive by working in multiple departments.

LEADERSHIP: Chairwoman & CEO Candy Fowler is a member of National Electrical Contractors Association (NECA) and the Electrical Board of Missouri & Illinois (EBMi). Donco is active with Leadership Council Southwestern Illinois and a long-time member of the Edwardsville/Glen Carbon Chamber of Commerce.

INNOVATION: As a woman-owned company in a male-dominated field, Donco embraces its unique position. By staying attentive to technology trends and offering new services as needed to better serve customers, Donco is able to stay ahead of the curve, providing turnkey solutions and great value to each of its clients.

EXCELLENCE: Donco has received the following recognitions – Top Workplaces (St. Louis Post-Dispatch, 2019), Best Places to Work (St. Louis Business Journal, 2019), Fastest Growing Companies (St. Louis Business Journal, 2019), Largest Woman Owned Businesses (St. Louis Business Journal, 2018), Largest Woman Owned Businesses (St. Louis Business Journal, 2019), Future 50 Award (Small Business Monthly, 2019), and Top Woman Business Leaders Award (Small Business Monthly, 2019).

CHARACTER: Mission – delivering innovative solutions through the power of family, integrity and collaboration. Vision – growing and investing in employees to exceed customer expectations in service and create enduring relationships. Values – Family (in daily interactions we treat each other with respect, trust and sincere appreciation); Spirit of Joy (find value and purpose in work, leading to optimism and contagious positivity); Superb Customer Service (in partnerships with clients, demonstrate honesty, transparency, integrity and personal communication); Quality (unrelenting commitment to quality demonstrated through safety, determination, passion and pride); and Listening (intentional listening and attention leads to innovation, collaboration and entrepreneurial problem-solving).

FUTURE FOCUS: Construction is currently underway for Donco’s new fleet services building, which will allow the company to service fleet vehicles more efficiently and better serve customers. Donco is concentrated on growing its newest service offerings, which include gas construction, managed IT services, and security/surveillance.

In addition, Donco recently unveiled its new name, ‘Utilitra,’ which will officially launch in 2020. ‘Utili’ rooted in Italian and ‘Utila’ in Latin together means ‘useful tools.’ Utilitra emphasizes the company’s quest to always provide the highest, ultra-service, smart technology and efficient utility solutions. Regardless of name, the company strives to be a premier partner and leader, while maintaining their values of family, integrity and collaboration.

Breihan Named Bank Of Springfield Community Bank President

Bank of Springfield (BOS) has announced that McKenzie Breihan in the Glen Carbon Banking Center has been named community bank president.

Breihan will also oversee the bank’s branch in Staunton. With 21 years of banking experience, she joined BOS as vice president of commercial lending in 2015. Earlier this year, she received the T. Edward McEvers GEM Award by bank management for outstanding customer service.

“McKenzie goes above and beyond for her customers, coworkers and her community and she will continue to do so in her new role. She is a great role model for our team in Glen Carbon and Staunton,” said Tom Marantz, BOS board chairman and CEO.

Breihan is a Southern Illinois University-Edwardsville graduate and a corporate member of the Edwardsville/Glen Carbon Chamber of Commerce, past president of the Edwardsville Children’s Museum and a founding member of 100+ Women of the 618.

“I have called Edwardsville my home for more than 20 years and am excited to head up this market as the community bank president,” she said.

Founded in 1965 in Springfield, Illinois, BOS remains locally owned and operated with full service branches in Springfield, Chatham, Jacksonville, Quincy, Shiloh, Swansea, Staunton and Glen Carbon, as well as a branch and lending center in Brentwood, Missouri.

Scott Credit Union Offers Exclusive St. Louis Blues Checking & Debit Card

Scott Credit Union has launched the exclusive checking account and branded debit card of the St. Louis Blues. Blues Checking is a free, high-rate checking account that offers the opportunity for account-holders to earn up to 4.05% annual percentage yield on their balance up to $25,000.

Credit union members will receive a 10% discount on Blues merchandise at the Enterprise Center’s STL Authentics store when they use the Blues card. The debit card also supports the community at no cost to the cardholders, as a percentage of each purchase will be donated to the Scott Credit Union Community Foundation.

“We are proud to extend our partnership with the Blues to now offer Blues Checking and debit card. This is really two championship teams working together.” Scott Credit Union President & CEO Frank Padak said. Padak noted that Blues Checking will be part of the credit union’s strategy to grow its membership in Illinois and Missouri. “This is a great opportunity to grow our business on both sides of the river with the excitement of the Blues coming off their championship season,” he said.

Blues Vice President of Corporate Partnerships Eric Stisser echoed Padak’s comments about Blues Checking being exciting for people throughout the region. “This partnership is important to us because it really expands our brand further on the Illinois side of the river,” he said. “With Blues Checking, people from throughout the region can really show their pride in the St. Louis Blues. Scott Credit Union and the Blues are two championship-caliber teams. We are excited about our partnership with SCU.”

Scott Credit Union began its partnership with the Blues before the beginning of last season. SCU’s agreement with the Blues also includes naming rights to the exclusive Rinkside Club & Pub 67 inside of Enterprise Center and advertising in the venue.

Illinois Chamber of Commerce: Is A Graduated Income Tax Right For Illinois?

Authored by Illinois Chamber of Commerce Tax Institute Executive Director Keith Staats, JD, this article was originally printed in the Summer 2018 edition of Insight Magazine, a publication of the Illinois CPA Society. It has been amended with updated ballot dates and condensed for length.

Let’s decode the math behind proposed progressive income tax plans. The Illinois Constitution currently forbids the imposition of a “progressive” or graduated income tax but calls for constitutional amendments authorizing one to come forward in the Illinois General Assembly. We will see such an amendment on the 2020 ballot.

Party-line politics have complicated proposed constitutional amendments authorizing and imposing a graduated income tax on individuals and corporations over the past few years. The House Revenue Committee even held a subject matter hearing in Chicago in May 2018 to hear testimony from proponents and opponents. In full disclosure, I testified on behalf of the Illinois Chamber of Commerce, expressing our opposition. However, I’m not writing to argue for or against a graduated income tax — I want to decode the numbers.

In particular, the Center for Tax and Budget Accountability’s (CTBA) recent report, “Cutting Taxes for the Middle Class and Shrinking the Deficit: Moving to a Graduated State Income Tax in Illinois,” illustrates the inherent difficulty in imposing a graduated income tax that raises substantial new revenues, without significantly increasing the tax burden on the middle class.

The CTBA, a clear proponent of progressive tax policies, offers two graduated income tax proposals that it claims could raise an additional $2 billion in general funds revenues while providing a tax cut to 98 percent of taxpayers. While that sounds enticing at the surface level, let’s look at the numbers.

The first proposal recommends leaving the current tax rate of 4.95 percent in effect for all taxpayers earning less than $300,000 in taxable income. Those with taxable income over $300,000 would see their rates balloon to 7.5 to 9.85 percent. The “tax cut” for 98 percent of taxpayers is in the form of a $300 tax credit for those earning less than $100,000 (single) or $200,000 (jointly) in taxable income. In other words, a tax reduction of about $11.50 per paycheck for employees paid bi-weekly.

The second proposal would reduce the tax rate to 4.5 percent on taxable income up to $100,000, maintain 4.95 percent on taxable income from $100,000 to $300,000, and raise rates to 8 to 9.85 percent on higher taxable income levels. Again, the tax cut under this proposal is also minimal — $225 for someone earning $50,000.

Now, the $2 billion revenue increase projected in these proposals is close to what some have indicated is the current state budget structural deficit. However, the proponents of a graduated income tax are not proposing the tax just to close a structural deficit — they’re seeking additional funding for programs they contend are inadequately funded. Therefore, assuming there’s no political will to cut state spending, the CTBA numbers demonstrate that obtaining significant amounts of new revenue would require raising the current 4.95 percent income tax rate on taxpayers earning less than $300,000 in taxable income. Regardless of your judgment on the programs seeking additional funding, the fact of the math is there just aren’t enough “rich” people to tax at higher rates under a graduated income tax to provide all the additional revenues.

The next call for action then is to review the corporate tax system, which many argue collects inadequate revenue because of “corporate loopholes” that need to be closed, followed by raising taxes on corporations in the proponents’ view of “fairness.” There has been significant tax base erosion via exemptions, credits, and deductions since the enactment of the Illinois Income Tax Act. However, the tax base erosion stems overwhelmingly from exemptions, credits, and deductions provided to individual taxpayers — not to corporations. The two biggest exemptions are the $1.8 billion exemption for federally taxed retirement income and $1.98 billion state sales tax exemption for food and drugs. In contrast, the Economic Development for a Growing Economy (EDGE) Tax Credit and Research and Development Tax Credit provided $82.4 million and $27.2 million in tax relief to corporations. These are FY2016 figures; with the tax rate reinstated to 4.95 percent, it’s estimated that the retirement income exemption will increase to approximately $2.7 billion for the current fiscal year. Again, I’m not making a judgment as to the value of the exemptions and credits, but the numbers demonstrate where tax base erosion has occurred most.

Further, even in the face of the state’s budget crisis, the General Assembly enacted additional individual tax credits, including the Invest in Kids Scholarship Tax Credit Program ($75 million), a new Natural Disaster Income Tax Credit, a new tax credit allowing teachers to claim up to $250 in deductions for supplies, and an increase to the Education Expense Credit.

In my estimation, the proponents of progressive income tax rates are mistaken if they think graduated income taxes can solve state spending imbalances without taxing the middle class. It’s equally unrealistic for opponents to such a plan to argue that taxes can be reduced if only cuts are made. There’s no political will among current members of the General Assembly to make those kinds of cuts or tax rate changes. And, despite rhetoric from candidates of both political parties, nobody, once in office, seems to be able to discover and eliminate enough “waste, fraud, and abuse” to make material changes to the spending side of the state’s ledger.

The Illinois General Assembly and the governor will continue to have difficult budget choices ahead. There will be continued discussions about changing the state’s tax structure to capture additional revenues. As the CTBA states: “No silver bullet exists that will entirely resolve all these challenges.” It’s essential to get beyond the rhetoric of both sides and carefully evaluate the numbers.

Author’s Note: Since the publication of this column both SB 687 and SJRCA 1 passed both Houses of the General Assembly, and SB 687 was signed into law by the governor. The amendment will be on the Illinois ballot in the 2020.
