

TESTIMONIALS

Vulcan Materials Company is proud to be the first recipient of the Irwindale Chamber of Commerce's Environmental Leadership Award. Having the first combined asphalt and aggregates facility certified ISO 14001 compliant in California demonstrates our on-going commitment to the environment and incorporates sustainability into our operations, which in turn benefit our community.

Charles St. John, Los Angeles Regional Environmental Manager, Vulcan Materials

I joined the Irwindale Chamber Environmental Committee in 2001 for several reasons: to help the community with regard to the environment; help my company regarding new business; and to help myself and my loved ones with regards to saving the planet.

Craig Doerr, American Reclamation

We are very proud to receive this award for energy conservation. Not only is the environment important to us, being 'green' is important to many of our clients, who include national brand food companies.

Mike Mulhausen, President, California Custom Fruits & Flavors Inc

The ICEC has made substantial, visionary, and ongoing contributions to the health & safety of the community. It's also a knowledge center, with such a variety of members at the table.

April Kelcy, Founding Member CEO, Earthquake Solutions

Blue Diamond Materials would like to thank the Irwindale Environmental Committee for giving local companies a forum to share and showcase their environmental accomplishments.

Ken Barker, Environmental Manager, Blue Diamond Materials

Since May 2000

WHO WE ARE

We are a robust group of talented members from the public and private sectors, utilities and non-profit organizations committed to fostering a healthy, safe and prepared community. We are the Irwindale Chamber Environmental Committee (ICEC).

WHY WE ARE HERE

The committee was organized to provide a forum to exchange ideas and incubate relationships that could assist local businesses in promoting beneficial environmental and safety practices in today's ever changing economy.

HOW WE DEFINE ENVIRONMENT

Conventional wisdom argues that economic interests and environmental interests run contrary to each other. At the extreme end of either perspective this may be the case. However, when you consider where these two admirable positions converge, a fresh point of view emerges. "Environment" is not merely defined in the traditional sense, which might solely address human interaction with natural elements, such as water, open space, and the preservation of species for instance. Environment is a merging of multiple factors that consider how we live, and if we live, in changing circumstances --- at both the individual and community level.

WHAT WE DO

The ICEC is responsible for creating, organizing and executing community events that address health and safety issues that affect the business community and the environment. Environmentally responsible companies are honored at the Fall Forum. Some of our events are listed below:

Fall Forum:

- ◆ 2008—Waste Not, Want Not: Environmental Awards and Green Business Expo

- ◆ 2007—"GERMS"

Heartbeat for Irwindale:

- ◆ 2009— Manage Your Health Because Change Happens in a Heartbeat
- ◆ 2008—Water: The Lifeblood of Our Community

E-Waste Collection and Disposal
