THE BEATLES

The backstage story of how the Beatles rocked America by
Chuck Gunderson

Learn how the Beatles changed the rock and roll touring industry with their ground-breaking, earthshaking, money-making tour of the United States and Canada where they performed 32 shows in just 33 days! Chuck will cover the intricate role that Beatles manager Brian Epstein played - and the risks and rewards involved in planning this monumental tour.

You'll trail the group from coast to coast as Chuck describes in detail the cheeky quotes delivered at the press conferences and the mayhem that followed them to each city. You'll also hear the story about one flamboyant promoter who paid over five times their normal fee to convince them to play in his city. Chuck will describe the venues, examine the contract riders and even discuss the support acts that warmed up the crowd prior to the Beatles' set. Feast your eyes on rare footage, including interviews of the group that changed the face of music forever! Check out Chuck's website at www.somefuntonight.com
