

Inside the hanger were booths about different aviation organizations in the community

Along with silent auction and meal