MESSAGE FROM OUR NEW PRESIDENT

Hi there chamber members!

We're off to a great start for 2014, and I'm excited and humbled to fill the role of President of the chamber this year. I believe that this will be our best year yet, and there's great things in store for all of us that we can look forward to.

I thought I would share a little about myself in this first monthly letter, as my background is probably different than what you would expect! I believe that our strength as a chamber comes from knowing one another better, and therefore knowing how we can network together more efficiently and both learn and grow from each other's strengths. In fact, I've asked the board to go through a fun evaluation together called "Strengths Finder" that identifies each person's top five strengths, as I am convinced that any team works better together the more they know one another.

So, back to sharing a little about myself and my family. I'm married to Daphne (who was born and raised in Zimbabwe, Africa) and we have three daughters: Karine (20), Nicole (19) and Jacqueline (15). I am the fourth of five siblings, and from the age of eleven until I graduated from high school I lived in Kenya where my parents were working as missionaries. It was the absolute perfect place for a young boy to grow up (back in those days anyway) – with all the wildlife and adventures too numerous to describe. After graduating from boarding school in Kenya (also a great experience) I attended Auburn University and finished with a degree in graphic design. After working for a few years I returned overseas myself in 1989, and spent the next 20 years in West Africa (10 years), France (10 years) and all over North Africa and the Middle East. For the last 10 years I worked as the Operations Director and Crisis Manager for a large Christian organization, and we dealt with virtually every crisis imaginable - including kidnapping for ransom, murder of staff, arrest and detention, terrorist attacks and natural disasters. I was kept busy to say the least! But looking back now, that was one of the most fulfilling periods of my life, as bizarre as that may seem.

I absolutely thrive in the midst of crises - not because I rejoice in the crises themselves, but rather in being in a position to help resolve it as quickly and efficiently as possible. When we returned to the States in 2009 I started my own crisis management consulting company called Storm Guides International with the goal of helping churches and mission agencies both here in America and internationally to prepare for and survive a major organizational crisis.

So what does all this have to do with running a rural country store in Bailey Colorado? Absolutely nothing. In fact, this is the last place we would ever have imagined ourselves landing even two years ago. But today we can't imagine being anywhere else. We absolutely love Bailey, the people, and the strong sense of community that permeates everything here. Having lived in many different countries during my lifetime I've become a keen observer of cultures. Did you know that Bailey has its own unique culture? And Bailey's culture is different from Conifer and certainly from Evergreen (surprise, surprise!). I'll share more thoughts on this idea of culture at our next general meeting, and at the same time tell you about the "Mountain Strong" initiative that our board is launching next month. It's going to be great!

Stay warm, and I'll look forward to seeing you all on Tuesday February 11th.

Jim Myers
