GFAFB Community Visit this Week

Grand Forks Air Force Base will be re-designated on June 28th to the 319 Global Hawk Wing. This will coincide with the change of command ceremony at the Base where a new Commander will take the reins. According to Chamber President, Barry Wilfahrt the Global Hawk Wing is what we have been pursuing as a community since the 2005 BRAC announcement that Global Hawks would be stationed at GFAFB. This is a milestone event that will position the base well in the foreseeable future. The BRIC Committee will continue to pursue future missions because the base has additional capacity. Also with the growth of Grand Sky, a nice synergy is developing between the base and the UAS Business Park.

Members of BRIC (Base Retention & Investment Committee) travel to Washington DC in May and June for a series of meeting to talk about the future of GFAFB. Current and future missions at GFAFB, Grand Sky UAS Park, Custom and Border Protection, and the National Guard will all be topics of discussion. The group will also visited the ND Congressional Delegation to talk base retention strategy and future

Career Conversations Update

About 130 UND, NCTC and Crookston college students registered to "shadow" area business people during the annual Career Conversations Week, April 9-10. More than 30 businesses listed job-shadowing opportunities on the Northern Valley Careers web site and students responded in a big way filling most of the shadowing opportunities offered.

"Historically, 60% of the students who participated in the Career Conversation experience indicated they are more likely to seek employment in the Grand Forks region after graduation because of the job shadowing experience, which is why we do this," according to Barry Wilfahrt, Chamber President.

NCTC, UND, University MN Crookston, Job Service, The Chamber of Commerce GF/EGF and the Greater Grand Forks Economic Development Corporation coordinate the Career Conversations week.

Johnson Named one of Top 25 Women in Business for 2019

Erin Johnson

Widseth Smith Nolting's Erin Johnson was selected as one of Prairie Business Magazine's Top 25 Women in Business for 2019. The list recognizes successful businesswomen in North Dakota, South Dakota, and western Minnesota. Honorees were selected through a nomination process that emphasized professional achievement, community contributions, and volunteerism.

Erin is a finance and accounting specialist in WSN's East Grand Forks office. She joined the company in 2012 and handles functions including daily operations, analyzing financial information, and producing financial reports. Erin is a member of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants (AICPA), the North Dakota CPA Society, and she recently joined the Greater Grand Forks Women's Leadership Cooperative.

Given her many contributions to the firm and to her community, WSN named Erin a shareholder at the end of 2018. In a firm whose greatest percentage of employees is engineers, Erin is one of just a handful of corporate administrative professionals who have been elevated to shareholder in the firm. Erin has consistently helped steer the firm into new initiatives, steadied it through challenges, and nurtured the company's consistent growth. She approaches her work with both a calm presence and a sense of joy that is infectious. In inviting her to become a vice president in the firm, WSN's management team has recognized Erin as one of the firm's top professionals and next generation of leaders.

Edgewood Healthcare Expands North Dakota Operations, to include Personal Care Services

(Grand Forks, N.D.) Edgewood Healthcare recently announced the expansion of its North Dakota operations, which includes the addition of new services made available through their acquisition of Home Care Companions of Grand Forks, North Dakota. Edgewood currently owns and operates 10 senior living communities in North Dakota with five of those locations also offering in-house Medicare-certified outpatient therapy, home health and hospice services provided through Edgewood’s CaringEdge division.
