Wake Up To UND 2019

The Chamber of Commerce GF/EGF and the University of North Dakota teamed up for another successful Wake Up to UND event on Tuesday, September 24th at the Alerus Center. Chamber Board Chair, Josh Brown introduced Interim President Dr. Joshua Wynne. Dr. Wynne spoke about being “quick and proactive” to deal with change.

UND and the Grand Forks/East Grand Forks business community have enjoyed a long history of working together. Wynne addressed a large crowd of businesses and community leaders. He said he is “optimistic about the future of UND and it is a time of transition.”

UND Student Body president Gracie Lian spoke, along with Meloney Linder, Jed Shivers, John and DeAnna Carlson Zink.

2021 Legislative Agenda Work Gears Up

Team Grand Forks has begun the process of discussing priorities and key relationship building opportunities in preparation for the 2021 Legislative Session. The Chamber, EDC, City, County and UND representatives have begun the discussion on what should be pursued jointly, on behalf of the community, to move our community and region forward. In the past, major UND building projects, the UAS Industry infrastructure, the City Water Treatment Plant and many other projects have been at the top of the list. More than $500,000,000 in state funding has resulted from this joint effort.

The group also plans to host a public input session in November on the use of potential legacy fund earnings. Stay tuned for details.
Bradshaw and Linder Join BRIC

Jim Bradshaw, owner of Strata Corporation, Air Force Civic Leader and long-time supporter of Grand Forks Air Force Base (GFAFB) recently joined the Base Retention and Investment Committee (BRIC) as a Chamber representative. Chamber Board Member and UND Vice President of Marketing and Communications, Meloney Linder was also recently appointed to BRIC by the University of North Dakota.

BRIC has become a recognizable force locally, state wide and nationally. Its members are respected regional leaders who are active in community planning and development opportunities. They maintain connections between all levels of government, business, and education institutions. BRIC is a model of community collaboration, comprised of representatives from the City of Grand Forks, Grand Forks County, Grand Forks Region Economic Development Corporation (EDC), Grand Forks/ East Grand Forks Chamber, and UND. Each entity has two appointed representatives as voting members.

USMCA Seems to be Headed for Approval

The US Mexico Canada Trade Agreement continues to move closer to action. The Pembina border crossing is the third busiest crossing on our Northern Border so this is very significant for our region.

At the US Chamber Committee of 100 meeting in late September, US Trade Ambassador Lighthizer talked about where the agreement stands. It is very close to passage according to the Ambassador. Conventional wisdom is there are enough votes on both sides of the isle for passage, but Leader Pelosi is working to gain even more votes from her party so once passed the agreement will remain in place for many years as past trade agreements have.

US Chamber President, Tom Donahue along with the Governor of AZ and State Chamber CEO’s from AZ and NY addressed the media, outlining the importance of getting this trade agreement passed as the first step in solving the trade and tariff challenges American Business is facing.

To show our appreciation for the men and women serving in our military and their families, the Chamber’s MAC Committee hosts the annual Military Appreciation tailgate event in conjunction with a UND football game. Thanks to UND for donating the 600 tickets for the event and the City Council for contributing financially to make the event happen.

Widseth Smith Nolting Named Among 50 Best Places to Work

The employee satisfaction-driven “50 Best Places to Work” list has a new entry for 2019—Widseth Smith Nolting has made its first appearance on the list. In its fifth year, the annual competition is sponsored by Prairie Business Magazine.

Through a competitive nomination process, Prairie Business Magazine recognizes the top 50 places to work in their coverage area—North Dakota, South Dakota, and western Minnesota. Nominations are made by employees, which ensures that it is their perspective being scrutinized for an employer’s worthiness of this honor.

WSN’s employees organized a concerted response to this year’s call for nominations in recognition of initiatives the firm has been pursuing to increase employee engagement, recognize exceptional efforts in the workplace, and facilitate growth, both in terms of individuals’ professional growth and that of the company.

According to a Prairie Business news release, more than 1,400 employees from around the region submitted nominations. The release quoted publisher Korrie Wenzel as saying, “It takes so much to be a great place to work... This year’s winners are good examples of companies that are working hard to make work fulfilling.”

WSN is proud to be among such good company.
