COMMUNITY PROFILE

The Grand Forks/East Grand Forks area is a place for families to grow and learn together, where families play ball in the backyard and kids rollerblade in the streets. The area is a place for families to thrive and inspire.

People are a little kinder here. Neighbors are happy to lend each other a hand, and strangers say hello. Families are a little stronger here, too. It's all thanks to a community spirit that brings our cities together for many unique celebrations like First Night and Cats Incredible and events like Art Fest and the Potato Bowl. It's a better place, thanks to the people. We invite you to experience it for yourself.

Welcome to picture-perfect neighborhoods, where turn-of-the-century Victorian homes meet modern architecture. Clean streets lie under broad canopies of shade trees. Children still open lemonade stands and adults actually still stop to buy a glass. We cherish our safe communities. We believe that, in a place where neighborhoods are still neighborly, the American dream really can come true.

Our communities offer an environment with the great amenities offered in larger urban areas and the safety and convenience of a small community. The Grand Cities area is impressively cosmopolitan, boasting a regional population of over 97,000.

Grand Forks and East Grand Forks are largely residential. Most of the people who work here also live here, and the predominant form of housing is single-family homes.

Some of the features that make the cities a great place to live are diverse educational opportunities, safety and low crime rate, parks and theaters, and a cost of living considerably lower than that found in large cities.

Greater Grand Forks offers excellent educational opportunities. Grand Forks is home to the University of North Dakota (UND), renowned as being among the nation's best medium-sized doctoral-research universities. UND is one of only 40 universities in the nation to have both a medical school and a law school. East Grand Forks is home to one of two campuses of Northland Community and Technical College, offering certificates, diplomas, degrees, general-education transfer courses, and workforce training and continuing-education programs.

The Grand Forks/East Grand Forks area has a strong and varied faith community. Nearly 50 faith structures adorn our cities, representing more than 16 religions and denominations.

No matter what you're looking for, you've come to the right place. Here you'll find diverse cultural, entertainment,

GRAND FORKS AIR FORCE BASE

Located 14 miles west of Grand Forks, the Grand Forks Air Force Base is home to about 2,000 people. Our communities have hosted the Grand Forks Air Force Base for nearly 50 years. The base employs more than 3,000 military personnel and civilians, with an annual payroll of about $130 million and a total economic impact in the community of over $433 million.

In 1998 and 2005, our communities were presented with the Abilene Trophy, the Air Mobility Command's highest honor for recognizing community-based relationships and support. The Grand Cities continue to set the standards and are a model around the country for ideal community-military relations and partnerships. The base was awarded the Air Force Outstanding Unit Award for 2004-2005.

The Grand Forks Air Force Base is home to the 319th Air Refueling Wing. The base has been actively involved in the global war on terror, including participation in homeland defense and Operations Enduring Freedom and Iraqi Freedom, with its members continually deploying overseas.

Grand Forks Air Force Base is currently in a transition process of changing the base's mission from an aerial refueling mission to an Unmanned Aerial System (UAS) mission. The base is expected to receive the Predator MQ-1 and the Global Hawk RQ-4. Currently, the Department of Homeland Security fly's and operates their Predator's from Grand Forks Air Force Base.

The base offers free tours to groups, maintains a speaker's bureau, and conducts the very popular Friends & Neighbors' Day biannual open house. There are educational opportunities available at the base as well. The education center offers several degree programs from accredited universities across the country — many of which are open to the general public.

The Grand Cities are proud neighbors and partners with the men and women serving at the Grand Forks Air Force Base. The positive relationships we have built have had lasting impacts, as a number of retirees choose to call our community home and are active residents of the Grand Forks/East Grand Forks area.

In Grand Forks, a force of nearly 80 officers includes seven community resource officers who are assigned to wards in the city. The Community Service Bureau's philosophy is to interact in a positive way with citizens to not only reduce crime, but also improve the quality of life for everyone.

In addition to normal police duties, the Grand Forks police department administers numerous community involvement programs. These programs include everything from a Neighborhood Watch Program and block parties to refugee training, landlord training and the CounterAct drug awareness program.

DIVERSITY AND GROWTH

Grand Forks and East Grand Forks offer many diverse businesses the opportunity for success and steady growth. This is revealed throughout the communities, from the downtown areas lying on either bank of the Red River of the North, to the outlying Industrial Park in Grand Forks, to the American Crystal Sugar plant in East Grand Forks.

There are approximately 2,500 businesses in the area, employing over 35,000 people. Businesses range from small to very large, and many of them were started right here in the community. Large employers that form a regional base include Altru Health System and the University of North Dakota, as well as numerous banking and financial service concerns and agricultural processing plants. Grand Forks enjoys a 3.5% unemployment rate, much lower than the 9.67% national average.

Although the larger employers tend to be more well-known and have a more readily apparent economic impact, the importance of the small businesses cannot be discounted. Of the nearly 3,500 businesses in the area, nearly half employ less than five people. The region supports these small businesses in a number of ways. Grand Forks is home to two business incubators dedicated to encouraging entrepreneurship and innovation in the region.

The Grand Forks Industrial Park continues to grow and includes over 30 businesses, ranging from an Amazon.com call center to Cirrus Design, a manufacturer of light aircraft. In East Grand Forks, agricultural processing is one of the main employment sectors.

SHOPPING AND DINING

The retail sector is strong and growing in Grand Forks and East Grand Forks. Grand Forks is home to the Columbia Mall, Grand Cities Mall and a number of other shopping districts. The community continues to attract numerous retailers to the area. The Market Place shopping area is home to a Super Target, Gordman's, Lowe's and Best Buy. Nearby is a Sam's Club and a Super Wal-Mart as well as Kohl's department store. In downtown East Grand Forks, you'll find Cabela's "destination retail store." In addition to offering quality outdoor merchandise, this 60,000-square-foot showroom is an educational and entertainment attraction, featuring a décor with museum-quality animal

The Red River Valley, part of the bed of the ancient Lake Agassiz, is known to have some of the most fertile soil in the world. The soil conditions in the area make this perfect farmland for sugar beets, potatoes, corn, wheat and other grains, beans, and sunflowers.

When choosing a restaurant, be assured that everything from fine dining to a quick meal on the run can be found on either side of the river. Industry and consumer demands for high-quality products have led our region and the agriculture industry into the technology age. Local farm operations are using satellites and other forms of technology to gather data so that wise input decisions are made before any planting is done. This assures a higher likelihood of meeting industry demands by making sure the best seeds are planted to achieve a superlative end product.

Agriculture is not just about farming anymore, though. The Grand Forks region is home to the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Human Nutrition Research Center, a world leader in mineral nutrition research for more than 20 years. The University of North Dakota also houses the Upper Midwest Aerospace Consortium (UMAC), whose Crop and Range Alert System promotes the use of geo-spatial technologies that improve economic competitiveness in the region while also providing environmental benefits.

The Grand Forks/East Grand Forks community is also the birthplace of the nation's first sugar beet farming cooperative. American Crystal Sugar, owned by 2,900 shareholders who raise 500,000 acres of sugar beets, is the nation's largest producer of beet sugar. The vote by cooperative members to purchase the company was made at a meeting held in Grand Forks in 1973.

SOMETHING FOR EVERYONE

Grand Forks and East Grand Forks provide an abundance of activities for everyone in the family during any season. We are lucky to have four distinct seasons and are able to take advantage of the many recreational and sporting events each season brings.

In the winter, families enjoy snowmobiling, hockey and cross-country skiing; in the summer, they participate in fishing, biking and swimming. Giving the family an opportunity to cheer the home team to victory, the University of North Dakota offers a variety of sports, including several teams that hold national championship titles. A variety of high school and youth sports are available as well.

We invite you to relax by enjoying one of our many parks, taking a walk or riding your bike on interesting paths, taking in one of many annual community-wide events in the Grand Cities, or playing on one of our scenic golf courses.

System-wide, there is an array of opportunities for adults and kids to participate in sports. The two communities offer hockey, baseball, tennis, soccer, football, curling and many other activities.

Golf

For the golfing enthusiast, there's no need to go far. Grand Forks and East Grand Forks feature five golfing facilities, four of which are public courses.

King's Walk is a world-class golf experience. Designed by Arnold Palmer and his design team, it's the only PGA-rated course in North Dakota or Manitoba. Characterized by rolling terrain with mounds, moguls, native grasses, Austrian pine trees and lakes, this is a public, daily-fee facility available for group outings, special events or golf lessons.

Two other 18-hole golf courses are available, one on each side of the river. Grand Forks Country Club is a private membership organization.

Valley Golf, located in East Grand Forks, offers a unique 18-hole layout that challenges all levels of golfers. The course has a beautiful setting for any type of group function, from a company golf outing to wedding receptions. A pro shop, driving range, snack bar and banquet facilities with a full bar are some of the services offered.

Also within our communities are two public nine-hole golf courses. Ray Richards is a full-service, nine-hole, par 36 course designed by renowned landscape architect Robert Bruce Harris of Chicago and owned by the University of North Dakota.

Lincoln Golf Course was established in 1909, making it one of North Dakota's oldest golf facilities. Originally, the 18-hole, par 71 golf course ran along the Red River of the North. Because of the flood of 1997, the course has been renovated to a nine-hole, par 35 layout.

Disc Golf

Fast becoming a very popular sport in Grand Forks and East Grand Forks, disc golf is a great way to spend an afternoon outdoors. Grand Forks Park District developed one of the first disc golf courses in the state of North Dakota. World-class performances by musicians and theater groups can be found at the Chester Fritz Auditorium and the North Dakota Museum of Art.

The Grand Forks area has a long history of public theater. The Firehall Theater, the Empire Arts Center and UND's Burtness Theater all host a variety of performances every year. In East Grand Forks, the Community Performing Arts Center offers both school and community performances. Whether your preference is a musical, drama or comedy, you'll find something to your taste right here in the Grand Cities. If you want to be a part of the fun, and not just watch, there are opportunities for all ages. ## LITERATURE

The literary scene in our region is expansive. For over 35 years, the UND Writer's Conference has drawn over 300 famous writers. This annual event is one of the only writer's conferences in the nation that is free and open to the public. During the five-day event there are readings, panel discussions, lectures, films and a community writer's workshop. The North Dakota Quarterly is a literary journal whose roots extend back to the early days of the University of North Dakota. One of the famous "little magazines" that have been the traditional seed beds of talented writers, it puts UND on the map while contributing to the nation's cultural and artistic life.

Readings of fiction, non-fiction and poetry can be found in bookstores, the North Dakota Museum of Art and at local coffee shops. Children can also get in the act with story time at libraries in Grand Forks and East Grand Forks. Our public libraries strive to connect the community, enrich the mind, and inspire the imagination. Visit the Library soon for your information, technology, and entertainment needs!

The University of North Dakota Historic District encompasses the central campus and most of the sorority and fraternity houses.
