Community Profile

The Grand Forks/East Grand Forks area is a place for families to grow and learn together, where families play ball in the backyard and kids rollerblade in the streets. The area is a place for families to thrive and inspire.

People are a little kinder here. Neighbors are happy to lend each other a hand, and strangers say hello. Families are a little stronger here, too. It's all thanks to a community spirit that brings our cities together for many unique celebrations like First Night and Cats Incredible and events like Art Fest and the Potato Bowl. It's a better place, thanks to the people. We invite you to experience it for yourself.

Welcome to picture-perfect neighborhoods, where turn-of-the-century Victorian homes meet modern architecture. Clean streets lie under broad canopies of shade trees. Children still open lemonade stands and adults actually still stop to buy a glass. We cherish our safe communities. We believe that, in a place where neighborhoods are still neighborly, the American dream really can come true.

Our communities offer an environment with the great amenities offered in larger urban areas and the safety and convenience of a small community. The Grand Cities area is impressively cosmopolitan, boasting a regional population of over 98,000.

Grand Forks and East Grand Forks are largely residential. Most of the people who work here also live here, and the predominant form of housing is single-family homes.

Some of the features that make the cities a great place to live are diverse educational opportunities, safety and low crime rate, parks and theaters, and a cost of living considerably lower than that found in large cities.

Greater Grand Forks offers excellent educational opportunities. Grand Forks is home to the University of North Dakota (UND), renowned as being among the nation's best medium-sized doctoral-research universities. UND is one of only 40 universities in the nation to have both a medical school and a law school. East Grand Forks is home to one of two campuses of Northland Community and Technical College, offering certificates, diplomas, degrees, general-education transfer courses, and workforce training and continuing-education programs.

The Grand Forks/East Grand Forks area has a strong and varied faith community. Nearly 50 faith structures adorn our cities, representing more than 16 religions and denominations.

No matter what you're looking for, you've come to the right place. Here you'll find diverse cultural, entertainment, educational, recreational and employment opportunities. You'll also find people you'll be proud to call "friends."

Grand Forks Air Force Base

Located 14 miles west of Grand Forks, Grand Forks Air Force Base is home to about 3,500 Air Force personnel and their families. Our communities have hosted the Grand Forks Air Force Base for nearly 50 years. The base employs about 2,500 military personnel and civilians, with an annual payroll of about $90 million and a total economic impact in the community of more than $189 million.

In 1998 and 2005, our communities were presented with the Abilene Trophy, the Air Mobility Command's highest honor for recognizing community-based relationships and support. The Grand Cities continue to set the standards and are a model around the country for ideal community-military relations and partnerships. The base was awarded the Air Force Outstanding Unit Award for 2004–2005.

Grand Forks Air Force Base is home to the 319th Air Base Wing, which is part of the Air Mobility Command. The base has been actively involved in the Global War on Terror, including participation in homeland defense and Operations Enduring Freedom and Iraqi Freedom, with its members continually deploying overseas. On any given day, about 100 personnel are deployed from Grand Forks Air Force Base.

Tenant units on the installation include the Air Combat Command's 69th Reconnaissance Group (operating the RQ-4 Global Hawk); elements of the North Dakota Air National Guard's 119th Wing (operating the MQ-1 Predator); and the United States Customs and Border Protection (operating the RQ-1 Predator). Grand Forks Air Force Base also provides direct support to the 10th Space Warning Squadron at Cavalier Air Force Station, N.D.

The base offers free seasonal tours to groups, maintains a speaker's bureau, and conducts a very robust community relations program. There are educational opportunities available at the base as well. The education center offers several degree programs from accredited universities across the country — many of which are open to the general public.

The Grand Cities are proud neighbors and partners with the men and women serving at Grand Forks Air Force Base. The positive relationships we have built have had lasting impacts, as a number of retirees choose to call our community home and are active residents of the Grand Forks/East Grand Forks area.

Public Safety

The cities of Grand Forks and East Grand Forks pride themselves on being very safe places to live. Both Grand Forks and East Grand Forks have a crime index much lower than the national average.

East Grand Forks and Grand Forks both have police departments that are involved in their respective communities. In East Grand Forks, a police department of over in a positive way with citizens to not only reduce crime, but also improve the quality of life for everyone.

In addition to normal police duties, the Grand Forks police department administers numerous community involvement programs. These programs include everything from a Neighborhood Watch Program and block parties to refugee training, landlord training and the CounterAct drug awareness program.

Diversity and Growth

Grand Forks and East Grand Forks offer many diverse businesses the opportunity for success and steady growth. This is revealed throughout the communities, from the downtown areas lying on either bank of the Red River of the North, to the outlying Industrial Park in Grand Forks, to the American Crystal Sugar plant in East Grand Forks.

There are approximately 2,500 businesses in the area, employing over 35,000 people. Businesses range from small to very large, and many of them were started right here in the community. Large employers that form a regional base include Altru Health System and the University of North Dakota, as well as numerous banking and financial service concerns and agricultural processing plants. Grand Forks enjoys a 3.2% unemployment rate, much lower than the national average.

Although the larger employers tend to be more well-known and have a more readily apparent economic impact, the importance of the small businesses cannot be discounted. Of the nearly 2,500 businesses in the area, nearly half employ less than five people. The region supports these small businesses in a number of ways. Grand Forks is home to two business incubators dedicated to encouraging entrepreneurship and innovation in the region.

The Grand Forks Industrial Park continues to grow and includes over 30 businesses, ranging from an Amazon.com call center to Cirrus Design, a manufacturer of light aircraft to LM Windpower, a manufacturer of blades for wind turbines. In East Grand Forks, agricultural processing is one of the main employment sectors.

Shopping and Dining

The retail sector is strong and growing in Grand Forks and East Grand Forks. Grand Forks is home to the Columbia Mall with JC Penney's, Macy's and Sears as anchor stores, The Grand Cities Mall and a number of other shopping districts. The community continues to attract numerous retailers to the area. The Market Place shopping area is home to a Super Target, Gordman's, Lowe's and Best Buy. Nearby are a Sam's Club and Super Wal-Mart as well as Kohl's, Old Navy and Bed, Bath and Beyond. In downtown East Grand Forks, you'll find Cabela's "destination retail store." In addition to offering quality outdoor merchandise, this recently renovated 60,000-square-foot showroom is an educational and entertainment attraction, featuring a décor with museum-quality animal displays, huge aquariums and trophy animals featured in realistic re-creations of their natural habitats.

Across the street from Cabela's is a 15 screen theater with stadium seating, rocker seats with movable arm rests. When choosing a restaurant, be assured that everything from fine dining You'll also find hometown favorites like the Red Pepper, Italian Moon, The Ground Round, JL Beers, The Green Mill and everyone's favorites, Olive Garden, Ruby Tuesday, and Texas Roadhouse. If you'd rather grab a quick burger or pizza, variety still abounds. Grand Forks and East Grand Forks have strong family values, and everyone can appreciate the fun pizza places, family restaurants, fast-food and fine dining places that can be enjoyed by all.

Local Leadership

The Grand Cities have a growing economy with strong business leaders. Local and regional businesses are very involved in the community, showing a strong spirit of volunteerism and support for a continued quality of life that keeps most from leaving our area and is one of the driving forces for families returning to our area. There is so much to appreciate in our cities, and there are many innovative and entrepreneurial partnerships in the works to enhance opportunities and foster future diverse growth.

Greater Grand Forks Young Professionals

The local Young Professionals Group, made up of 20 to 40-somethings in the area, is host to many social, professional, cultural and philanthropic events throughout the year.

All are a fantastic way to grow your network of friends and professional colleagues, while engaging you in the wonderful attractions of the Greater Grand Forks region.

Their mission is that 'We enhance our community, create connections, and invest in each other.' The organization believes that the voice of many is louder than the voice of one, and they aim to shape and improve the YP culture here in Grand Forks/East Grand Forks. Agriculture

There are over 2,500 farming operations, with a value of over $600 million in production, in Grand Forks County, North Dakota, and Polk County, Minnesota. The Red River Valley, part of the bed of the ancient Lake Agassiz, is known to have some of the most fertile soil in the world. The soil conditions in the area make this perfect farmland for sugar beets, potatoes, corn, wheat, barley, soybeans, dry beans and sunflowers.

Industry and consumer demands for high-quality products have led our region and the agriculture industry into the technology age. Common technologies found within a tractor cab include auto-steer, which allows a farmer to reduce overlapping field operations, reducing fuel expense and soil compaction. Another tool in the tractor may be variable rate technology (VRT) and real time kinematic (RTK). Together these technologies allow a farmer to treat each inch of a field as a unique field, and apply the appropriate amount of seed, fertilizer or herbicide to maximize production with minimal inputs. Farmers are working hard to raise a bountiful, high quality product, with a minimal amount of inputs, expense, and environmental impact.

Agriculture is not just about farming anymore, though. The Grand Forks region is home to the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Human Nutrition Research Center, a world leader in mineral nutrition research for more than 20 years. The University of North Dakota also houses the Upper Midwest Aerospace Consortium (UMAC), whose Crop and Range Alert System promotes the use of geo-spatial technologies that improve economic competitiveness in the region while also providing environmental benefits.

Grand Forks and East Grand Forks are home to several large agricultural processing companies including the North Dakota Mill, the largest flour mill in the United States. We are also home

American Crystal Sugar, owned by 2,900 shareholders who raise 500,000 acres of sugar beets, is the nation's largest producer of beet sugar. The vote by cooperative members to purchase the company was made at a meeting held in Grand Forks in 1973.

Something for Everyone

Grand Forks and East Grand Forks provide an abundance of activities for everyone in the family during any season. We are lucky to have four distinct seasons and are able to take advantage of the many recreational and sporting events each season brings.

In the winter, families enjoy snowmobiling, hockey and cross-country skiing; in the summer, they participate in fishing, biking and swimming. Giving the family an opportunity to cheer the home team to victory, the University of North Dakota offers a variety of sports, including several teams that hold national championship titles. A variety of high school and youth sports are available as well.

We invite you to relax by enjoying one of our many parks, taking a walk or riding your bike on interesting paths, taking in one of many annual community-wide events in the Grand Cities, or playing on one of our scenic golf courses.

Community-wide, there is an array of opportunities for adults and kids to participate in sports. The two communities offer hockey, baseball, tennis, soccer, football, curling and many other activities.

Many of the parks have warming houses, restroom facilities and playground equipment.

Parks Facilities

In many neighborhood outdoor parks in both communities you'll find over 30 tennis courts, swimming pools, many playground facilities, splash parks, basketball courts, softball fields, football fields, fishing, hockey rinks, in-line skating, picnic shelters, cross country skiing and so much more.

Dog Park

The spacious dog park offers dog owners a safe, legal opportunity to exercise their pets off leash within the city limits. Currently licensed dogs can romp freely under their owners care in the large fenced dog park located in Lincoln Park.

Golf

For the golfing enthusiast, there's no need to go far. Grand Forks and East Grand Forks feature five golfing facilities, four of which are public courses.

King's Walk is a world-class golf experience. Designed by Arnold Palmer and his design team, it's the only PGA-rated course in North Dakota or Manitoba. This is a public, daily-fee facility available for group outings, special events or golf lessons.

Two other 18-hole golf courses are available, one on each side of the river. Grand Forks Country Club is a private membership organization that includes a swimming pool, restaurant and pro shop.

Valley Golf, located in East Grand Forks, offers a unique 18-hole layout that challenges all levels of golfers. The course has a beautiful setting for any type of group function, from a company golf outing to wedding receptions. A pro shop, driving range, snack bar and banquet facilities with a full bar are some of the services offered.

Also within our communities are two public nine-hole golf courses. Ray Richards is a full-service, nine-hole, par 36 course designed by renowned landscape architect Robert Bruce Harris of Chicago and owned by the University of North Dakota.

Lincoln Golf Course was established in 1909, making it one of North Dakota's oldest golf facilities. Originally, the 18-hole, par 71 golf course ran along the Red River of the North. Because of the flood of 1997, the course has been renovated to a nine-hole, par 35 layout.

Disc Golf

A very popular sport in Grand Forks and East Grand Forks, disc golf is a great way to spend an afternoon outdoors. Grand Forks Park District developed one of the first disc golf courses in the state of North Dakota. The 18-hole course is located in Lincoln Drive Park and is free to use. On any given sunny afternoon or evening, you'll find many people enjoying a round of disc golf.

Racing at River Cities

Friday night is race night in the Grand Cities. The River Cities Speedway is one of the nation's best quarter-mile dirt tracks. Featuring outlaw sprints, late models, super stocks, street stocks and Midwest modifieds, River Cities Speedway has racing every Friday from the middle of April through the middle of September.

Bicycling

Fishing/Boating

Whether you're looking to fish from the shore, put your boat in the water to fish, or just enjoying a day in a canoe or kayak, opportunities abound in Grand Forks and East Grand Forks. Channel catfish are the Red River's claim to fishing fame, but the Red River and the Red Lake River boast over 70 species of native fish. With four boat ramps within the two cities, it's convenient to get your boat in the water. There are also plenty of shore fishing areas for those who want to keep their feet on dry ground.

Campers have plenty of access to multi-purpose trails for walking and biking, picnic areas, and two rivers for fishing and boating. The campground's

Museums, Visual Arts & History

The North Dakota Museum of Art is located on the campus of the University of North Dakota and attracts artists and visitors from across the country and around the globe. They offer year-round, high-quality ceramic arts classes and activities for adults and children, gallery events, and outreach opportunities. Community service, combined with artistic excellence, make the Center a uniquely vibrant place!

If owning your own art appeals more to you, there are many opportunities here for that, too. The North Dakota Museum of Art has a museum shop that's open year-round and also hosts two art auctions during the year, featuring numerous artists and styles. In the summer sun, the downtown area along the Greenway becomes a shopping mecca for those looking for art. Art Fest is a two-day annual event that draws 150 high-end artisans and quality crafters to the area to sell their wares. The event also includes entertainment, a kid's corner and more. Attendance at Art Fest averages over 40,000. There are also a number of local art galleries where you'll find pottery, jewelry, stained glass and other works of art for sale.

If history is what you're looking for, you can visit the Grand Forks County Historical Society's Myra Museum. It's home to displays about the history of the region and features a number of historical buildings right on the property. In East Grand Forks, you'll want to take in Heritage Village. This historic village works to preserve the history of the Northern Red River Valley.

Literature

The literary scene in our region is expansive. For over 36 years, the UND Writer's Conference has drawn over 300 famous writers. This annual event is one of the only writer's conferences in the nation that is free and open to the public. During the five-day event there are readings, panel discussions, lectures, films and a community writer's workshop. The North Dakota Quarterly is a literary journal whose roots extend back to the early days of the University of North Dakota. One of the famous “little magazines” that have been the traditional seed beds of talented writers, it puts UND on the map while contributing to the nation’s cultural and artistic life.

Readings of fiction, non-fiction and poetry can be found in bookstores, the North Dakota Museum of Art and at local coffee shops. Children can also get in the act with story time at libraries in Grand Forks and East Grand Forks. Our public libraries strive to connect the community, enrich the mind, and inspire the imagination.

The possibilities to learn about local and international cultures abound in the area. At the UND International Center, you can choose a night to learn about a different country and feast on that culture’s delicacies. Each year, the International Center also hosts a Feast of Nations Celebration that offers international food and entertainment. Native American culture is a strong part of the community, with an annual Wacipi (pow-wow) and educational forums on Native culture during Time-Out Week.

Northland Community and Technical College

Northland Community and Technical College (Northland) is a comprehensive community and technical college with campuses in East Grand Forks and in Thief River Falls, Minnesota. Northland offers certificates, diplomas and degrees.

The East Grand Forks campus offers programs in health, business, liberal arts, and technology and trades. The campus specializes in offering health-related career opportunities. Students can also take advantage of over 22 associate of applied science degrees, with articulation agreements with Bemidji State University, Minnesota State University Moorhead and the University of North Dakota.

Northland Community and Technical College students are as diverse as their interests. Some students are recent high school graduates, some are employees interested in expanding or updating their skills, some are taking courses for personal enrichment, and some are getting the –education they never received after high school. Overall, the East Grand Forks campus enrolls over 1,750 students and employs 75 faculty members.

Educational opportunities in the Grand Forks and East Grand Forks region bring growth, life, learning and employment to the area, and we pride ourselves on the quality and reach of our schools.
