Engage The Forks Highlights

EngageTheForks.com is a new comprehensive community engagement website where citizens can engage and communicate on important issues.

The web site is a collaborative effort of the Community Foundation, Grand Forks Mayor Mike Brown, and the Chamber of Commerce of Grand Forks and East Grand Forks. It is funded by the Knight Foundation.

EngageTheForks invites people to share their thoughts & ideas at this on-line town hall.

The belief behind EngageTheForks is that "Cities are better when Citizens are involved"

This on-line forum will be open for a minimum of 12 months; people can come back regularly to check out new issues and add to the conversation; we'd like to make this a regular habit for people; there will be many conversations and topics presented over the

EngageTheForks provides the technology of MIndMixer, a leader in building community engagement sites

The first two topics to be discussed on the website are:

--NV360, the North Valley/New Vision community visioning project

--Mayor's Blue Ribbon Commission on Housing

The technology of EngageTheForks.com will measure participation and identify the most compelling topics. The on-line tools make it easy to measure results.

Information and ideas from the site will be shared with everyone in the community. The process is meant to inspire individuals, organizations, leaders, and elected officials—everyone who wants to get involved and make things happen in the community.

Cats Incredible Set for 2013

The Chamber will once again sponsor the popular CATS Incredible Fishing Tournament on the banks of the Red River in East Grand Forks in 2013. The tournament lead sponsor will once again be Cabalas in East Grand Forks.

According to event cochairman Tom McDonald "we expect excellent participation in the 26th annual event." It will once again be open to 125 two person teams. Application information will be sent to all fishermen in November.

The event has also been streamlined which will reduce some costs. Some of these savings will be passed on to the fishermen in the form of higher payouts which should make the tournament even more attractive.

The CATS Committee will not be doing a large festival in conjunction with the fishing tournament in 2013, however, any local group who would like to participate in a festival or other activity on the CATS grounds is welcome to contact the Chamber to get involved.

JLG Architects Receives Awards

The North Dakota Chapter of the American Institute of Architects has awarded two of three 2012 Merit Awards to projects designed by JLG Architects. The awards were presented at the AIA North Dakota Awards Gala in Bismarck "for distinguished accomplishments in design and the profession of architecture."

MERIT AWARD – Grand Forks Airport Terminal; Grand Forks, ND: Designed for efficiency, improved circulation, and future expansion, the new Grand Forks International Terminal offers a comfortable traveling environment within a "Wow Factor" showpiece for the State. The two-level terminal provides two gates capable of boarding aircraft from the Saab SF340A to the Boeing

B757-300 through a passenger bridge with access to all planes, including commuter flights. Materials, including Minnesota limestone, metal panels, concrete masonry units, and glass curtain wall, were selected to fit the landscape, as well as evoke the concepts of flight.

The new terminal was programmed for energy efficiency and sustainability and, as a result, is seeking LEED™ certification. Sustainable elements include horizontal geothermal heating and cooling, energy-efficient lighting, and sensors that detect both sound and motion for energy control. The terminal also incorporates the latest in state-of-the-art technologies and systems. Twenty-two monitors around the facility are updated instantly via computer. Televisions in the boarding area are customized to show advertising related to passengers' destinations. TSA information in the screening area is now digital, which is a new concept that has been proven to increase the flow of screening. Additionally, the baggage belt system is ergonomically-friendly, completely computer-controlled, and uses sensors to evenly space and distribute bags on the belt.

MERIT AWARD – Camp Hancock Historical Site Locomotive Shelter; Bismarck, ND: Built in 1907, Northern Pacific Locomotive No. 2164 has been on display at Camp Hancock State Historical Site since its retirement in 1955. Exposed to the elements and accessible to vandals, the locomotive was in need of both a facelift and a permanent structure to protect it from future damage.

JLG worked with the State Historical Society to first perform cosmetic restoration work on the train and later design and construct an historically-appropriate and functional shelter to highlight and house the locomotive for years to come. The State Historical Society wanted a lodging that was visually tied into the historic railroad theme and encouraged visitors to stop and take a look. Located on a highly-visible main street in Bismarck, North Dakota, the new steel-framed shelter is painted red with green trim, colors used by the Northern Pacific on trackside structures. The wooden canopy, steel lattices, stone columns and center clerestory are inspired by railroad vernacular seen on regional depots and bridges.

AE2S Hires Laurin

AE2S (Advanced Engineering and Environmental Services, Inc.) has hired Susie Laurin as an Administrative Assistant in the firm's Grand Forks, ND, headquarters. She will be providing administrative support for Nexus, the financial division of AE2S. Laurin will also perform corporate support functions for AE2S and serve as the firm's assistant travel coordinator.

"I am excited to be a part of this growing company and work with such a great group of people. I look forward to the opportunities that AE2S has to offer," said Laurin. Laurin brings more than 17 years of experience in administrative work, as well as teaching administrative classes. Prior to joining AE2S, she worked at Grand Forks Public Schools as an Administrative Assistant.

Originally from Argyle, MN, Laurin holds a Bachelor of Science Degree in Business Education from the University of North Dakota.

Bremer Bank Promotes Borchardt

Bremer Bank recently promoted Todd Borchardt to assistant vice president in Ag banking in Grand Forks.

Borchardt joined Bremer in 2008 as a credit analyst and was promoted to Ag banker in 2010. He has a bachelor's degree in business administration from the University of North Dakota. Borchardt is an active member of the community, serving on the boards of Grand Forks Optimist Club and Junior Achievement. He is also a member of the Greater Grand Forks Young Professionals organization.

"Todd has really been an incremental part of our Ag team and this promotion is a natural next step for him," said Rick Robinson, vice president and Ag banking team lead for Bremer Bank Grand Forks. "Todd has excellent client relationship and Ag banking expertise and we congratulate him on his dedication and efforts."
