Art That Gives Back
The Arts Center
700 SW Madison Ave
Corvallis, OR 97333

12:00 PM - 05:00 PM PST

Jessica Lleras, Development Manager, 541-757-8068
jessica_lleras@oldmillcenter.org

A Fundraiser for Old Mill Center at The Arts Center

Art That Gives Back is an exhibition featuring abstract artworks by Tom Mayers, a Corvallis-based painter, artist, and photographer.

Mayers' work explores color, movement, and emotion through layered, textural abstract paintings that invite viewers to bring their own memories and interpretations into the experience. His art reflects energy, rhythm, and the unseen forces that shape how we experience the world.

This exhibition bridges creative expression and meaningful community impact. Through the artist's generosity, all proceeds from artwork sales will benefit Old Mill Center, helping advance their work with children and families in our community.

Stop by The Arts Center to experience this inspiring collection!

Exclusive Film Screening: How to Poison a Planet

Whiteside Theatre

361 SW Madison Ave

Corvallis, OR 97333

06:30 PM - 09:00 PM PST

OSU Engineering Events, 5417377151

Engineering.Events@oregonstate.edu

Presented by the College of Engineering and the Clean Water Technology Initiative

*Across the globe, access to clean water is threatened by population growth, climate change, industrial and agricultural pollution, and other pressures. Join us for an exclusive film screening of the award-winning documentary How to Poison a Planet, followed by a panel discussion with field experts and stakeholders.*

This groundbreaking film examines the use and spread of PFAS and other fluorinated compounds — human-made "forever chemicals" that never break down and now contaminate waterways, farmland, and communities worldwide, including the drinking water of 200 million Americans.

*With behind-the-scenes access to the largest litigation involving drinking water in American history, How to Poison a Planet investigates how the use of a product as seemingly harmless as firefighting foam, has resulted in the contamination of communities all over the world. Spanning from the heart of New York City to a small First Nations community in Australia, the film exposes one of the most widespread environmental disasters in human history.*

This film is not rated, but recommended for those ages 15+ due to mature content.

Lunch & Learn - Marketing That Doesn't Suck
Corvallis Chamber of Commerce
420 NW 2nd St
Corvallis, OR 97330
11:30 AM - 01:00 PM PST
Marketing That Doesn't Suck

How to build your business with marketing ideas that don't suck the life out of you—or the money out of your bank account.

This class is for business owners who are tired of marketing that feels exhausting, awkward, or expensive—and want a better way forward.

Drawing from real-world experience building businesses from scratch, this class focuses on low-cost, high-impact marketing strategies rooted in human connection, clarity of message, and community presence. Participants will learn how to generate momentum without paid ads, gimmicks, or tactics that feel inauthentic.

Rather than chasing trends, this class teaches simple, repeatable ideas that work for small and local businesses—especially those looking to grow through relationships, referrals, and reputation.

Attendees will leave with practical ideas they can use immediately, a clearer understanding of what marketing actually works for them, and renewed confidence that growing a business doesn't have to feel soul-sucking or financially draining.

Tim Rist

Tim Rist is an interesting character. Somehow, despite his outrageous and eccentric personality, he has been trusted by over 700 families over the last 12 years to broker their real estate goals, including the City of Corvallis. He is also a real estate developer, founder of Discover Oregon Real Estate and D( )RE Developments. He brings over a decade of strategic investing experience in both business and real estate, with a focus on sustainable, people-first growth.

Tim is also a lifelong Corvallis community member—born at Good Sam a graduate of Oregon State University at age 19, and currently raising his family in Corvallis. His work is deeply rooted in the belief that strong local businesses are the backbone of healthy communities.

Before real estate, at just 17 years old, Tim started building and scaling a painting business from the ground up using grassroots marketing—with no ad spend, no paid leads, and no marketing budget. That early experience shaped how he later grew real estate teams, brokerages, and development projects by relying on his 10C approach rather than expensive or flashy marketing tactics.

Today, Tim is known for teaching practical, human-centered approaches to growth that help businesses gain traction without burnout, hype, or unnecessary spending.
