PinalCentral Presents - Plugged In: Powering Pinal's Future
Robson Ranch Hermosa Ballroom
5750 N. Robson Blvd
Eloy, AZ 85131

11:30 AM - 01:00 PM MST
Pinal Central, 520-423-8658
zcooper@pinalcentral.com

As Pinal County continues to grow at a rapid pace, one big question stands out: Are large-scale solar farms and energy-hungry data centers what our region truly needs — and are we prepared for the power demands that come with them? Join us for the next PinalCentral Presents as we explore the evolving energy landscape in Pinal County. From expanding solar developments to the rise of major data center projects, growth is driving unprecedented demand on our power grid. But what does that mean for residents, businesses, water use, land use and long-term infrastructure planning? Hear directly from industry experts, energy leaders and local decision-makers as they discuss:

The role of solar farms in Pinal County's future
The economic impact of attracting data centers
Grid capacity and reliability
How growth is shaping our energy strategy
Whether current projects are meeting a true need — or moving faster than infrastructure can support

Be part of an informed, balanced conversation about where we're headed and what it means for our community.

Tickets can be purchased online at pinalcentralpresents.com. Includes buffet-style lunch.

Quarterly Economic Forum: Infrastructure Update

TBD

19756 N. Maricopa Rd

Maricopa, AZ 85138

Date and Time TBD

Infrastructure isn't just roads and power lines — it's the foundation of economic success. From transportation networks to utilities and broadband, the strength of our regional systems determines how efficiently our businesses grow and our communities thrive.

Join the Greater Maricopa Business Alliance for the second event in the 2026 GMBA Economic Forum Series, where key infrastructure partners and decision-makers will share updates, plans, and opportunities shaping Western Pinal County's future.

Confirmed Participants Include:

Arizona Department of Transportation (ADOT) – regional transportation projects and priorities

*City of Maricopa — representing multiple state and regional transportation boards
Global Water Resources – sustainability, service capacity, and future growth planning
Salt River Project (SRP) and Arizona Public Service (APS) – energy reliability and long-term infrastructure investment*

Cox Communications and Ponderosa Broadband – connectivity and digital access in growing corridors

Electrical District #3 – local power distribution and rural service expansion

This session will highlight upcoming projects, planned investments, and the critical partnerships that make growth possible. Participants will explore how infrastructure decisions connect directly to business expansion, housing development, and workforce accessibility.

Key Takeaways:

Learn about major transportation and utility initiatives coming to the region

Understand the challenges and opportunities of growth from the providers' perspective

Engage directly with infrastructure leaders about collaboration and community impact

Discover how investment in infrastructure drives business retention and attraction

Workshop From Bored to Board

TBD

TBD

Greater Maricopa Business Alliance, 520-705-2532

Info@maricopachamber.org

Ready to elevate your nonprofit board — and your role within it? Join us for an empowering session led by author and board-governance specialist Erik Hanberg. This is your chance to move from “just another meeting” to meaningful impact as a board member.

In this interactive workshop, you’ll learn how to:

Understand the critical responsibilities and influence of a nonprofit board — why good governance matters for mission, reputation, and sustainability

Build and contribute to a strong board team: recruitment, roles, accountability, culture, and strategic oversight

Clarify the difference between being on a board and being in the boardroom: how individuals can show up prepared, proactive, and attuned to the mission

Explore real-world pitfalls, success stories, and actionable checklists to help your board transition from “bored” to genuinely engaged leadership

As part of this event you’ll receive a copy of each of Erik Hanberg’s three books on nonprofit leadership and governance — powerful tools to continue your board-transformation journey.

About the Facilitator

*Erik Hanberg has spent more than 15 years working in the nonprofit sector in roles spanning fundraising, marketing, board service and staff leadership. He is the author of books tailored for nonprofit boards, including The Little Book of Boards: A Board Member’s Handbook for Small and Very Small Non-profits. In addition to his writing and consulting work, he has served on elected public boards — including as a commissioner for Metro Parks Tacoma — giving him practical, boots-on-the-ground insight into board leadership.*

Who should attend?

Current or incoming board members who want to deepen their understanding and effectiveness

Non-profit staff or executive directors seeking strategies to strengthen their board

Individuals curious about serving on a nonprofit board and wanting to step in prepared

Turn your board meetings into purposeful leadership forums — join us and be the board member your organization needs

Quarterly Economic Forum: Workforce and Innovation

TBD

Date and Time TBD

Greater Maricopa Business Alliance, Chamber of Commerce, 520-705-2532

Info@maricopachamber.org

People are the true power behind economic growth — and the next generation of talent is already here. The fourth event in the 2026 GMBA Economic Forum Series focuses on Workforce & Innovation, exploring how education, business, and community partnerships can strengthen the local talent pipeline and create new opportunities for both youth and adults in Western Pinal County.

This forum brings together leaders in education, workforce development, and business innovation to discuss strategies for preparing the next generation for meaningful careers, while also addressing the needs of underemployed residents seeking new pathways in a changing economy.

Confirmed Participants Include:

Arizona Board of Regents – insights on higher education initiatives and statewide talent strategies

Maricopa Unified School District – preparing students for life after graduation through career readiness and industry connections

Central Arizona College (CAC) – expanding technical training and workforce education across Pinal County

ARIZONA@WORK – connecting employers with skilled talent and workforce support programs

Pinal County Workforce Development – local collaboration and regional employment trends

GMBA Foundation – advancing youth mentorship, work-based learning, and employer engagement initiatives

Together, these organizations are driving innovation in how communities prepare people for work, upskill the underemployed, and align education with employer needs.

Key Takeaways:

Learn about local and state programs supporting workforce development and job readiness

Discover how businesses can partner with schools and workforce agencies

Explore resources available for underemployed or career-changing adults

Understand how workforce innovation fuels community prosperity and economic resilience
