The Missing Pieces: Planning Today for Your Family's Future

Pierre LaClede Center 2

7733 Forsyth Blvd.

St. Louis, MO 63105

09:00 AM - 10:00 AM CST

Brett Figus, 3148897158

bfigus@dmfirm.com

When your estate planning attorney, financial planner, and trust company operate independently, important details can be missed when your loved ones most need clarity. Join us for a free seminar that turns separate strategies into a coordinated plan your family can count on. Registration is required — RSVP online at dannamckitrick.com/seminars.

Seminar Overview:

There are many considerations when planning for the future of your family. Proper estate planning documents and financial planning are key pieces of the puzzle, but important questions often remain. What if your family members aren't good with money? What if you don't want to burden a family member with these jobs? Should a professional trust company be part of your plan to manage assets in the future?

Discussion Insights:

Our speakers have coordinated a real-world case study that walks through how an estate plan, financial plan, and trust company work together to support your needs and wishes for the future.

Attendees will learn:

- ? What can go wrong when these pieces are not aligned
- ? When it makes sense to involve professionals
- ? How to reduce the burden placed on your family members
- ? How to build a plan that functions clearly when it matters most

Our Speakers:

Tabitha Atwell, Estate Planning Attorney, Danna McKitrick, P.C.

Megan Burke, Financial Advisor, Edward Jones

Rebecca James, Trust Advisor, Parkside Financial

The choice of a lawyer is an important decision and should not be based solely upon advertisements.
