HOWARD
COUNTY ENERGY DISTRICT

WHO WE ARE

The Howard County Energy District is a non-profit organization committed to helping residents, farms, and businesses in Howard County save energy and money, and transition to efficient, local, renewable energy.

OUR VISION

A future where energy is used efficiently, and local, renewable energy leads the way.

WHAT WE DO

We help homes, farms, businesses, and institutions save money by investing in energy efficiency and clean energy such as solar and geothermal.

PARTNER WITH GREEN IOWA AMERICORPS

Green Iowa Americorps does basic home energy assessments and upgrades, especially for seniors, veterans, low-income households, and disabled. GIA also works in schools to teach students about renewable energy and saving energy.

EDUCATION

We offer breakfasts, seminars, newsletters, fairs, and tours throughout the year to spread the word about all things energy-related, including farm efficiency, business lighting, solar policies, and electric vehicles.

POLICY

We advocate at the local and state levels for smart energy policies that support our local economy and protect our environment for future generations.

NETWORKING

We work with a growing group of local energy districts to promote renewable energy and energy efficiency.

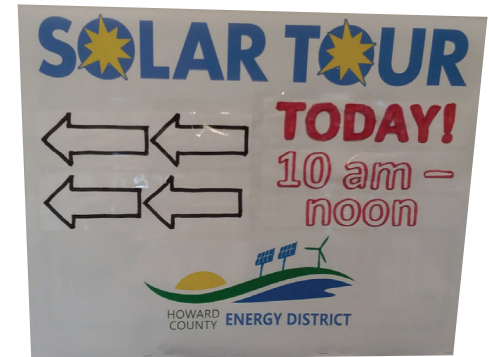

WHAT WE'VE DONE

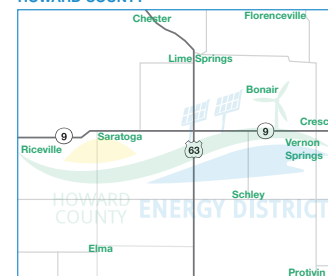

Since our incorporation, we have worked at the local level to promote renewable energy and energy efficiency through activities such as: solar and energy efficiency tours, outreach at the Mighty Howard County Fair, parade displays of electric and hybrid vehicles, an Energy Breakfast on energy efficient lighting, and advocacy for smart energy policies.

We have also partnered with other energy districts on events such as: Farm Energy Fair in Calmar, seminar on solar for non-profit organizations, and a holiday light recycling campaign.

And we're just getting started!
