Bank of Hillsboro Relocating Edwardsville Branch

Edwardsville, Ill. (January 2, 2019) Starting on January 13, Bank of Hillsboro will have a new Edwardsville address. The bank is relocating its services from its current location at 2200 Troy Road in Edwardsville to 2496 Troy Road, right in front of Home Depot on the corner of Goshen and Troy Road. Bank of Hillsboro president and CEO, Misty Borrowman, said because of the branch’s continued growth in the community, a convenient new location was needed.

“The great news for our customers is that this should be a seamless transition that won’t affect their accounts in any way,” said Borrowman. “All of our customer checks, credit cards, account numbers and mobile banking options will stay exactly the same. Our safety deposit boxes will also be securely moved to the new location. Customers will be able to bank at our old location during normal business hours on January 11 and then come to our new location on January 13 with no change in services.”

Borrowman said the new location will offer customers more accessible parking options, a contemporary office space and will be an easier location for new customers to find. The new location will continue to have the same phone and fax number.
